DAILY PITTSBURGH GAZETTE.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON, JANUARY 21, 1834.

THE POST OFFICE.—It is rumored that Mr. Barry is about to be dismissed, and Senator Wilkins appointed in his place.—It is high time that Mr. Barry should be expelled from a post for which, it is now manifest that, he has no one qualification. Some persons, however, intimate that Mr. Barry has rather sneaked out of office to escape investigation.

Whilst one portion of the Jackson party are raising a hue and cry against the United States' Bank, other portions, who are equally vociferous, give satisfactory evidences of their conviction that such a bank is necessary, as a regulator of the currency, and as the transactor of exchanges.—Thus a member of Congress, from Indiana, offers as a substitute for the present well tried and effective Bank, a most extravagant project for a Government Bank.—In our own legislature a Mr. Heston has another project, equally absurd; and we are told that the legislature of Massachusetts have also one before them.

PUBLIC MEETING.

A very respectable and numerous assemblage of the citizens of Pittsburgh, convened at the house of Geo. Beale, on Monday evening, January 20, 1834, to take into consideration the causes of the evils which now threaten the country, and the proper remedy to be applied—THOMAS FAIRMAN, Esq., was called to the Chair, and GEO. W. JACKSON and S. P. DARLINGTON appointed Secretaries.

On motion,

Resolved, That a committee of three persons be appointed to draft resolutions expressive of the sense of this meeting. W. W. Fetterman, Lewis Peterson, and Thomas S. Clarke were appointed, who, after retiring a few minutes, reported the following resolutions, which were unanimously adopted.

1. Resolved, That it is the right and the duty of the people to remonstrate against such measures of government as are unauthorised, illegal, and highly prejudicial to the public interest.

2. Resolved, That a very great pressure exists at this time in the money market of our country, and that its inevitable tendency is to cripple and destroy our mercantile and manufacturing business, unless the evil is speedily remedied.

3. Resolved, That, in our opinion, the removal of the deposits was an unwarrantable stretch of power, on the part of the Secretary of the Treasury, in direct violation of the contract made with the Bank of the United States, when she was charted—that it is sanctioned by no law, and justified, by his own showing, by no public necessity.

4. Resolved, That the effects of that removal has been to create the severe pressure already adverted to, which now operates on all classes of the community, and threatens to paralyze all the active industry of the country.

5. Resolved, That we deprecate the measure as fraught with injury to the currency of the country, as the mother of a horde of State Banks, subject to no control, and that we can but anticipate a renewal of the dismal scenes of 1817 to 1820, when all credit was destroyed, business stopped, our men of industry and enterprize ruined, and half the real estate in the community sold at sheriff's sale.

6. Resolved, That we attribute the pressure solely to the removal of the deposits, as we know no other cause that has impaired public confidence in the ability of our moneyed institutions, and has produced this great change in four short months, from a state of great prosperity to one of great distress; and that our Representatives and Senators in Congress be requested, as the best means of averting the continuance of the evil, that we now suffer, to vote to have all future deposits made in the Bank of the United States.

7. Resolved, That although we have, for some time, felt the pressure produced by the removal of the deposits, we were unwilling to memorialize Congress on the subject, believing, as we did, that the question of the legality or illegality of that act would be discussed solely on its own merits; and were therefore determined to await, with patience, the result of that discussion—and that, with very great astonishment and regret, we were yesterday informed that our Senator had stated, in his place, that he had not been informed of any pressure in this city.

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed to memorialize Congress on the subject of this meeting—and that they present the same to our citizens for signature:—W. W. Fetterman, N. B. Craig, and George Grant, Esqrs., were appointed to this committee.

Resolved, That a committee of four from each ward in the city, two for Allegheny town, Birmingham, Northern Liberties, and Lawrenceville, each, be appointed to obtain signatures to the memorial.

East Ward—Wm. Mackey, M. B. Miltenberger, Jno. Arthurs, E. J. Higby.

South Ward—J. B. Butler, Geo. Ogden, Geo. Cochran, A. M. Anderson.

West Ward—G. W. Jackson, J. Crossan, Wm. Little, R. C. Stockton.

North Ward—T. Scott, J. D. Baird, George R. White, P. A. Madeira.

Allegheny town—John Morrison, Samuel B. M'Kenzie.

Birmingham—James Patterson, Jr., Joseph Long.

Lawrenceville—Alba Fisk, Geo. Gossin.

Northern Liberties—D. P. Ingersoll, John Shoenberger.

Resolved, That a copy of the foregoing resolutions be transmitted, by the Chairman of this meeting, to each of the Senators, from this State, in Congress; also to our immediate representative, Hon. H. Denny, as expressive of the opinions and feelings of a large portion of their constituents, upon the matter referred to.

Resolved, That the proceedings of this meeting be published in the city papers friendly to the objects of it.

Whereupon the meeting adjourned.

THOS. FAIRMAN, Chairman.

GEO. W. JACKSON, S. P. DARLINGTON, } Secretaries.

MR. BINNEY'S SPEECH—CONTINUED.

I understand the honorable Member from Tennessee to say, that reductions by the Bank, in August and September last, were greater than they ever had been in any other two months since her institution. I join issue upon this allegation.—They have been greater in other months, and they were greater in the very same months of the preceding year.

In August and September, 1833, the amount reduced was		$4,066,146
In August and September, 1832 it was		4,315,678
being the difference between 68,008,988, the discounts and domestic bills in August, 1832, and 63,693,310, their amount in October; and yet there was no alarm whatever in 1832. Now there was, moreover, a greater reduction, by a million and a half, from July to October, 1832, than there was between the same months in the present year; and without any distress or alarm.
The discounts and bills in July, 1833, were		$63,369,897
In October,		60,094,202
Reduction,		$3,295,695
The amount in July, 1832, was,		$68,416,081
in October,		63,693,310
Reduction,		$4,722,771

There was a greater State Bank debt in October, 1832, than in the same month, 1833, and yet there was no alarm. In October, 1833, it was 2,285,573, and in October, 1832, it was 2,820,114. The reason of the difference may possibly show to the gentlemen, that mere reduction is an insufficient element for determining the pressure in the market. In October, 1832, the payment of the three per cents. was to restore to the community a portion of the sums called in by the Bank. In October, 1833, the deposits were to go where individuals must have a less beneficial use of them, and where they could have no use of them, except as the State Banks should choose to lend upon them.

Nor did the whole reduction, from October to December, 1833, cause the existing distress. It is well, sir, to present these details, that the House may reflect upon them, and learn how far the Secretary is responsible for the condition of the country. The Bank paid out, in the two months of October and December, 246,766 dollars more than she received from the community.

		Receipts.
In Oct. 1833, her discounts and bills were		60,094,202
In December, they were		54,453,104	5,641,098
		Payments.
In October, the public deposits were	9,868,434
In Dec. they were	5,162,259	4,706,175
In Oct. the private deposits were	8,008,862
In Dec. they were	6,827,173	1,181,689	5,887,864
Excess of payments over receipts			246,766

Nor was the reduction by the Bank of the U. States, in the month of December, the cause of the distress.

In Dec., 1833, the discounts and bills were		54,453,104
In January, 1834, they are		54,911,461
Showing an actual increase of		458,357

Yet, in that month, the public and private deposits were paid to the extent of 1,024,058 dollars.—Yes, sir, in this very month, when it has been said that the Bank had grasped the debtor's throat, to compel an outcry to Congress for the return of the deposits, the Bank extended her loans nearly half a million of dollars, while she paid more than a million of her deposits.

Nor was the entire reduction in the four commercial cities, from October, 1833, to January, 1834, the cause of the prevailing distress.

In Oct. 1833, the loans and bills in those places were as follows:		In Jan. 1834, they were as follows:
Philadelphia,	7,156,487	Philadelphia,	7,979,233
New York,	6,180,883	New York,	5,970,055
Boston,	3,965,283	Boston,	2,316,034
Baltimore,	2,033,318	Baltimore,	1,954,045
	19,335,971		18,219,367
	18,219,367

Making $1,116,604 reduction in the four cities during the three preceding months.

The cause of the alarm and general paralysis are not be found, then, in the conduct of the Bank of the United States. They are to be sought for and found in the removal of the deposits—in the universal derangement of the money system of the country by that means, in the just refusal of the United States Bank to extend herself to her own undoing, or to keep herself unprepared for the coming storm, by remaining as extended as she was; in the inability of the State Banks to use the deposits as beneficially as they were used before—and in the refusal of capitalists to lend their money and advance their property in the face of a project to overwhelm the country with an uncontrollable State Bank paper currency.

What, sir, does the Secretary of the Treasury expect of the Bank? What measure of justice does he render to her? He says the design of removing the deposits was to compel reduction, and he censures her because she reduces. He complains that she increased her discounted and domestic bills, from December, 1832, to August, 1833, more than two millions and a half, when this was the very season in which trade requires the increase, and it was wholly in the purchase of domestic bills. He complains that she reduced her discounts, in August and September, 1833, four millions of dollars, when trade does not require the means, and three millions of the amount was by the payment of domestic bills, which had arrived at maturity. He complains of the increase of their loans in December, 1830, when they were 42,402,304 dollars, and he complains of their restriction in August, 1833, when they were twenty two millions more, viz: 64,160,349 dollars.—He complains of their reductions in 1833, when, in the whole, from June to December, they have been but 610,508 dollars more than they were in 1832, and the Bank has had also to pay the public deposits.*

Sir, it is clear that the Bank must abide the reproaches of the Secretary, whatever she does. But what has she not a right to expect from this House—from the People—from the solid State Banks—from all who are concerned in the currency, and the property it circulates? Their safety depends in her pursuing the course she has traced out, from which neither the reproaches of enemies, nor the entreaties of friends, should divert her. For the former I have no apprehension, and for the latter, although I entertain some fears, I trust that an answer will always be found, by the able Board which administers the concerns of the Bank, in the superior claims of public duty.

The Secretary asserts, sir, and it seems to be a favorite assertion, as it is to be found in more than one place in the letter—he asserts that the Bank has violated its charter. He says that, "Instead of a board constituted of at least seven directors, according to the charter, at which those appointed by the United States have a right to be present, many of the most important money transactions of the Bank have been, and still are, placed under the control of a committee, denominated the Exchange Committee, of which no one of the public directors has been allowed to be a member, since the commencement of the present year. This committee is not even elected by the Board, and the public directors have no voice in their appointment. They are chosen by the President of the Bank, and the business of the institution, which ought to be decided on by the Board of Directors, is in many instances transacted by this committee; and no one has a right to be present at their proceedings but the President, and those whom he shall please to name as members of this committee. Thus loans are made, unknown at the time to a majority of the Board, and paper discounted which might probably be rejected at a regular meeting of the directors. The most important operations of the Bank are sometimes resolved on and executed by this committee; and its measures are, it appears, designedly, and by regular system, so arranged, as to conceal, from the officers of the Government, transactions in which the public interests are deeply involved. And this fact alone furnishes evidence too strong to be resisted—that the concealment of certain important operations of the corporation from the officers of the Government, is one of the objects which is intended to be accomplished by means of this committee. The plain words of the charter are violated, in order to deprive the people of the United States of one of the principal securities which the law had provided to guard their interests, and to render more safe the public money entrusted to the care of the Bank."

Now, sir, the Secretary connot have examined this matter, or he would have entertained a different opinion. There is no violation whatever of the charter, in giving the President authority to appoint the Committee of Exchange, or in authorizing that Commtttee to transact the business of Exchange, or even to discount, if such a power should be deemed expedient.

The Secretary appears to rely on the fourth fundamental law of the Corporation, which enacts, that "not less than seven directors shall constitute a board for the transaction of business, of whom the President shall always be one, except in case of sickness or necessary absence; in which case his place may be supplied by any other director, whom he, by writing under his had, shall depute for that purpose. And the director so deputed may do and transact all necessary business belonging to the office of the President of the said corporation, during the continuance of the sickness or necessary absence of the President." By transaction of business, the Secretary would seem to understand exclusively the execution of business—the carrying of a direction, order, or law, into act and effect.—But this is not the restricted meaning of the word in this place, for several satisfactory reasons.

1. Such a restriction upon the execution of the various business of the Bank, as that not less than seven directors should form a quorum to do it, would render the execution of business impossible. Not a deposit could be received or paid, or the simplest operation of business performed, without the presence of such a qourum. 2. Accordingly the charter, by the use of a different term, in a different place, shows that this is not the meaning of the words transaction of business. The tenth section gives to the Directors for the time being, "power to appoint such officers, clerks, and servants under them as shall be necessary for executing the business of the said corporation, and to allow them such compensation for their services, respectively, as shall be reasonable." 3. The word in its proper sense, includes both the execution and direction. 4. The authority of the Board, as would naturally occur to most people, is legislative; and although they can also execute and perform definitively any business they please, it must depend upon the law which they prescribe to themselves, or which is prescribed for them by the charter and by laws, what part they will perform in person, and what they will commit to others. The quorum is appointed for the exercise of authority as a Board—for legislation, and not for the execution of the laws or directions of the Board. The body is, by the very name of its office, directive and not executive. 5. This is clearly implied from the provision which gives to a substituted director the power to transact all the necessary business belong to the office of President, during the continuance of the President's sickness or necessary absence. What is the necessary business belonging to the office of President? The charter does not declare it. Perhaps the only business which it allots to him, expressly, is that of signing notes of a certain description to give them a certain effect. Whence then can he get it, except from the Board of Directors, or the by laws and regulations of the Bank; and if he gets it from the Board, they must have the power to authorize and direct, and the President, by virtue thereof, must have power to execute.

Sir, the power of making by laws and regulations for the government of the Bank, has been wholly overlooked by the Secretary. The 7th section of the charter gives the whole corporation—the stockholders—the power to "ordain, establish, and put in execution such by laws, ordinances, and regulations, as they shall deem necessary and convenient for the government of the said corporation, not being contrary to the constitution thereof, or to the laws of the United States;" and the present situation of this power is thus: It has been settled for a century, that where a charter commits the power of making by laws to the whole body of the corporation—the general mass of corporators—they may then delegate the power to a select body, who then represent the whole body in their acts of legislation. The contrary of this is held to be the law, when the power is given by charter to a select body, for they cannot delegate their power to any other body. Now, sir, the whole body of the corporation of the Bank of the United States, the stockholders, at a general meeting, held on the 6th January, 1817, did delegate their power of making by laws and regulations, to the Board of Directors, after passing a few by laws not affecting the present enquiry. The act by which this was done, declares "that the Directors shall have power to make such further rules, regulations, and by laws, as they shall deem necessary and convenient for the government of the Bank of the United States, not contrary to these ordinances, nor to the act of incorporation, nor to the laws of the United States."

Consequently, the Directors have, since that time, possessed and exercised, and do now possess and exercise, the legislative power of the corporation by the gift and delegation of the stockholders, and the laws and regulations made by the Board of Directors, whether for the government of their own body, or of the business of the Bank, not being contrary to the Constitution, the laws of the U. States, or by the laws made by the stockholders, are good and valid, either by virtue of their own charter authority, as Directors, or the authority delegated to them by the whole corporation.

Upon what principle is it, then, that a regulation of the Board, authorizing the President to appoint committees, (a necessary power in every legislative body,) or that authorizing a committee to take order upon the purchase and sale of Exchange, or to perform any other act of banking, which the charter does not require to be done by somebody else, is denounced as a violation of the charter, and of the plain words of the charter? Sir, the power exercised by the Committee of Exchange is known by all who know any thing of practical banking, as it is now conducted in our cities, to be not only usual, but almost indispensable, and, to the due management of the parent Bank, entirely so. To require a quorum of seven to be present at every such operation, occurring as they do every day, would be to say that the Bank of the U. States should not give the facilities to exchanges which the interests of trade require. The question of expediency of the rule is, however, for the Board, when its legal quorum is present, to decide, and they have decided it, and the stockholders have never questioned the decision. As to the right, though from convenience, as well as from the regular recurrence and magnitude of the operations, the discounts of promissory notes are directed by the Board of Directors in person, there is no legal difference between discounts and exchanges, or any other branch of banking business, which makes them necessarily subject to different rules. The Board may regulate the whole as it deems best for the Bank.

But, sir, this alleged violation of the charter is connected, in the mind of the Secretary, with a design to "conceal certain important operations of the Corporation from the Officers of the Government." The particular operations concealed are not suggested, but the concealment is alleged as an inference from the mode of appointing and instructing the committees in violation of the charter.

There are some points of fact adverted to in the Secretary's letter, and in the argument of the honorable member from Tennessee, which it is my intention to leave to those who think that they are still worthy of additional notice. I am not of that opinion. These matters regard the particular items of expense for printing and publication by the Bank, and the old affair of the three per cents, both as to the suspended payment from July to October, and the contract by the Bank with certain holders of that stock. If, after the volumes printed by the order of this House at the last session of Congress, upon these and other kindred questions, something more is required to be said, I am sure it may be said more profitably by others than by myself. So also, sir, as to the discovery which the honorable member from Tennessee thinks he has made, of a contradiction between the amount of printing expenses of the Bank in 1831, returned by the Bank to the Senate, under a resolution of that body, and the amount for the same year stated in the pamphlet, which he is pleased to term the Manifesto of the Bank, the former being, as I understand, the sum of $9,775, and the latter the sum of $21,708 53. That discovery may not prove to be as important as it is supposed to be, if gentlemen will advert to the fact that the call of the Senate embraces the expenses paid by the Bank for printing, and to editors; and the expenses in the pamphlet are the whole amount paid by the Bank for publications of every kind, by whomever printed, and not merely the portion paid by the Bank to printers employed by itself, and to editors of newspapers.

These, sir, are minor points; but the question of concealment involves great considerations. It would appear that the charge implies a general concealment, from the omission to appoint any one of the Government Directors upon the Committee of Exchange; and particular concealment, from giving to the Committee on the offices a power to modify the Resolutions of the Board for reducing the business of the Institution as they should deem expedient, and refusing to order them to make report to the Board; also, from refusing to the Government Directors a copy of the resolution indicating the course of policy proper for the Bank to pursue under present circumstances, and which the Government Directors thought it proper to be transmitted to the Secretary of the Treasury. In regard to the Committee on the offices, I find it difficult to comprehend that branch of the alleged concealment; as by their letter of the 22d April, 1833, to the President, it appears that one of the Government Directors was at that time a member of that committee. Possibly, however, there may have been a change, and, I shall so consider it.

Sir, these questions are of great importance to all Banks, and to the Bank of the United States in particular. The right of the Government Directors to the station they aspire to, or to demand that the Board should make the orders which the Board have refused to make, has not the least foundation. Their right to be members of any committee, has no more legal support than the right of a member of this House to be upon a committee appointed by this House. It depends, in this House, upon the good pleasure of the House, or what is constructively the same thing, upon the pleasure of the Speaker, chosen by the House. In the Board of Directors it depends on the pleasure of the Board, either directly or indirectly, as they make the appointment themselves, or give the power of appointment to the President of the Board. The right to require that a committee shall make a report to the Board, is the right of the Board, and not of any member of it. The right to take a copy of the minutes, for any purpose, depends on the will of the Board, by whom they are made, or ordered to be made, as the charter does not contain any direction upon the subject. It would be the same in this House, if the constitution did not require a journal to be kept by each House, and to be published from time to time; though even this is subject to an exception, depending on the will of the House.

The questions of right being thus, let us examine, sir, the questions of expediency and propriety.

An Honest Voice.—The House of Representatives of Kentucky—in special reference to the case of the Deputy Sheriff of Lincoln, one of the counties of the Fifth Congressional District of Kentucky, who, though present with his poll book at the counting of the votes of the other counties in the district, refused peremptorily to exhibit it, or to permit the votes of that county to be legally ascertained, and thereby defeated the election of the Representative—passed, on the 2d January, by a vote of 87 to 9, a resolution declaring it "felony," punishable with imprisonment in the penitentiary, for any sheriff, or deputy sheriff, hereafter wilfully to withhold his poll book.

After this vote, in which friends and opponents so honorably united, we take it, that even "free" Tom Moore, as he is commonly called, will hardly persevere in his claim to Mr. Letcher's seat in the House of Representatives of the United States.—New York American.

New York Insolvent!—The Comptroller has thrown open the doors of an empty bankrupt Treasury! Our General Fund—a treasure which, with proper management, would have been inexhaustible, is not merely gone, but we are $312,486 98 in debt! Having thus squandered the inheritance of our fathers, the government must now TAX the people for its support! Or if this measure is so odious that the Legislature will not venture upon it, a much worse alternative—that of borrowing, must be resorted to. The latter course is not only unwise, but dishonest. We have no right to encumber our children with a load of public debt. Those who dissipated the public treasures should be made to replenish them. Our fallen condition is the bitter, but natural condition of misgovernment. The State bankruptcy results from a long course of legislation for 'the party,' regardless of the people's interest or the public welfare. And what have the people obtained as a consideration for an ample domain and an empty Treasury? The glorious privilege of wearing collars and "huzzaing for Jackson." Who knows but that Americans may yet attain the higher honor of shouting "God save the King."

The refusal of the Directors of the Manhattan Bank to give the required security for the public deposits, will lead to the appointment of another deposit Bank, and the repayment of the amount already received by the Manhattan. It is a singular fact, that the Manhattan Bank had more agency in removing the deposits than any other institution, and is likely to be a sufferer by it.—N. Y. Star.

By a private letter, says the National Intelligencer, we learn that resolutions were moved in the Virginia House of Delegates on Monday last, far stronger both in substance and language, than those reported by the committee of which Mr. Barbour is chairman, condemning, as an usurpation and contempt of Congress, the removal of the public money by the executive. On those resolutions several incidental votes were taken, which showed a majority of something like two to one, if not altogether favorable to their adoption, at least determined that a decision upon them should not be evaded.

CONGRESS.

Monday, Jan. 13.—In the House of Representatives, Mr. Denny presented a petition of the inhabitants of the western part of the State of Pennsylvania, praying Congress to subscribe a million of dollars towards the construction of the western section of the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal.

Mr. Coulter presented a like petition from the inhabitants of the county of Westmoreland, in the State of Pennsylvania.

Mr. Stewart presented a petition of the same tenor from other inhabitants of the State of Pennsylvania.

Mr. Pope presented a petition of the inhabitants of the State of Kentucky, praying Congress to purchase the stock of the Louisville and Portland Canal Company, and that said canal may be made free of toll.

On motion of Mr. Stewart, it was

Resolved, That the Committee on Roads and Canals be instructed to enquire into the expediency of making provision for the improvement of the steam boat navigation of the Monongahela river, as far as the survey, plan, and estimates have been completed, and for the extension of the survey to the highest practical point of such improvement.—Nat. Intel.

It is stated in the public prints, that the nominations of Government Directors in the Bank of the United States, for the ensuing year, having been for some time before the Senate, have not yet been acted upon. To use their own language, which seems to be in some sort typical as well as figurative, they are "hung up" in the Senate. That honorable body, we have no doubt, has had good reasons for the delay in acting upon them.

But the official paper of yesterday, affects to understand the delay to act upon these nominations as being a contrivance "to deprive the government of the representatives of its stock in the Bank of the U. States," and imputes it to an understanding between Mr. Biddle and some of the Senators. So ignorant are the K. C. of the matters which they undertake to regulate and control, that they actually do not know, it appears, that the Directors on the part of the Government, for the last year, continue to be Directors until others are appointed to succeed them: and the result of this ignorance (if the ignorance itself be not feigned) is a charge of a design, on the part of the respectable Directors appointed by the Stockholders, to exclude the Government from a knowledge of the transactions of the Bank! This discovery is worthy of the Genius which presided over the reports, oral and written, of these same Government Directors, first to the back stairs cabal, and afterwards to the President.

The fact is, (we learn,) that these reporting Directors are not only still Directors, but they still attend the sittings of the Board in that capacity.—Nat. Intel., Jan. 17.

We observe intimations in some of the Eastern journals of a prospect, or probability, of a compromise, in Congress, of what nature we cannot conceive, concerning the Deposit Question. We can only say, as far as our knowledge and observation extend, such a thing has never been dreamt of.—Nat. Intel.

Manhattan Bank.—We learn that the Board of Directors of the Manhattan Bank have formally refused to ratify the conditions agreed upon with the Secretary of the Treasury, touching the securities for the safe keeping of Uncle Sam's cash. "I should like well enough to accommodate Mr. White," said one of the Directors, "but dat pond vill live ven I am deat." We presume the Earl of Carmarthen, who receives from six to twelve thousand dollars a year interest, by loaning the Government its own money, will order such an obstinate set of Directors to be reformed out.—Com. Adv.

What do the admirers of Jackson, Economy, and republican simplicity say to the fact, that the ordinary expenses of the general government have increased under General Jackson's administration, from thirteen millions to twenty two millions? That General Jackson requires NINE MILLIONS of dollars more to carry on the Government, than Mr. Adams did? Will any of the learned explain this phenomenon?—Delaware State Journal.

So! some of the Pet Banks, after having received the deposits, refuse to ratify their contracts with the Kithen Cabinet! In the meantime, the money of the people is scattered to the winds on flimsy drafts. This comes from persons meddling with things they do not understand. The old maxim is applicable—"ne sutor ultra crepidam"—let the cobbler stick to his last, the auditor to his desk, the cook to his ladle. X.

BRADDOCK'S FIELD

Edgeworth Young Ladies' Seminary.

ANOTHER year, the seventh of this Institution, has terminated, under circumstances pleasing in the retrospect, and replete with successful result.

In taking leave of those young ladies whose allotted time has expired, the relation of teacher and pupil of course ceases, but feelings of kindness, and desire for friendly intercourse, with mutual prosperity, will ever exist.

Health, the first of earthly blessings, has been so extraordinary, as to make Braddock's Field proverbial as a place for its enjoyment; and the additional buildings and arrangements have given satisfaction to all. We therefore announce, with gratitude, the prosperity of the Institution, in the present public manner.

On the 18th proximo, (September) it is intended to resume the engagements of the Seminary, but with a limited number.

It is intended, that, except as vacancies occur, no more pupils shall be received the next session, than those whose names remain on the list, or who are considered as engaged. This arrangement, it is presumed, will receive the approval of our friends.

The same course of studies will be pursued as particularized in former notices—and the terms continue unaltered, viz.

Pupilage, with reference to all the English branches,	$150
Tuition in Music and Drawing,	50

No extras but washing and stationery.
Braddock's Field, Sept. 3, 1833.

FOR RENT.

A Commodious brick building, three stories high, situated in the Northern Liberties of Pittsburgh, and now occupied by Mr. Samuel Eastwod.—Also, two Lots of Ground in the immediate vicinity. The premises were formerly rented by Samuel Mackey for a tavern stand, and, from their proximity to the canal, are eligibly situated, either for that purpose or for a store house.

Possession will be given on the first day of April next. For terms apply at my office in the Diamond.

LOUISVILLE HOTEL.

THIS new and splendid establishment, situated on Main street, has been leased of the Louisville Hotel Company by the subscribers, for a term of years, and they feel no hesitation in saying that the entire arrangement of this Hotel, for extent of accommodation, elegance, and comfort, are not surpassed by any Hotel in the United States. Its location is pleasant and airy, and but a few moments' walk from the steam boats. The house contains nearly 200 apartments, most of which have fire places; and has a private entrance, leading to thirty suits of rooms, expressly arranged for the accommodation of families—has also seventy single lodging rooms. The establishment is furnished in the best modern style, and the Wines and Liquors have been selected with great care from the most celebrated vaults in New York and Boston. The proprietors, grateful for the liberal patronage bestowed on the different establishments they have been connected with in the eastern cities, hope, by their experience and personal attention, to gain for this Hotel a reputation equal to any in America. The Hotel was opened for the reception of transient and permanent boarders on the 1st of December.

THESE scales are constructed upon an improved principle; are fitted up with great care by the manufacturers, and warranted to weigh with accuracy from half a pound to 12,000. Being placed in, and forming part of, the floor, the process of weighing is performed with ease and facility, while the space they occupy may be improved as a passage way or for other purposes.

The construction of these scales is such that they are little liable to derangement of wear, and their perfect operation will be guaranteed for any reasonable length of time.

The usual objection, that a new method of weighing cannot be safely entrusted to unskilful hands, is obviated by the use of the improved BALANCE, concerning which are the following remarks in the Journal of the Franklin Institute, of the state of Pennsylvania, for the promotion of the Mechanic Arts, for June, 1833. (Edited by Thos. P. Jones, M. D., late Superintendent of the Patent Office, at Washington, Professor of Mechanics in the Franklin Institute, &c.

"The Messrs. Fairbanks, some time since, obtained a patent for a Platform Weighing Machine, and this mode of adjuating and graduating the Beam of the Balance, and the weights, was devised by them with a view to its employment with the before mentioned machine. We have had an opportunity of examining one of their balances, and have been much pleased with it: this examination, however, was not necessary to the conviction that it possesses a just claim to the character of a real improvement, the whole arrangement being so simple as to enable any person to perceive that it is well adapted to the purpose contemplated, that of facilitating the business of weighing, and more especially of heavy articles."

The subscriber, as Agent, will receive orders for the above Scales, which will be made in this city to order. They can be seen at his Warehouse, No. 84, Front street.

DOCTOR ROBERT'S
☞WELCH MEDICAMENTUM.☜

FOR the cure of Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Jaundice, Cholic, Fever and Ague, Dysentery, Headach, Loss of Appetite, Flatulence, Hypochondria, Hysterics, Dropsical Complaints, and Heartburn, It also prevents all Bilious disorders, and removes habitual Costiveness, Asthma, Strangury, Gravel, Rheumatism, Gout, and Impurities of the Blood.

A person who uses this Medicamentum will not require the use of the lancet, or any means of the healing art. It restores and revives the animal spirits, invigorates the system, removes nervous tremors, obtunds rheumatic and anthritic pains, and prevents their return. It cleanses the stomach of all morbid humors, which cause indigestion, acidities, headach, and lowness of spirits; cures all bilious disorders, and all cholics of the stomach and bowels, almost immediately; inspires cheerfulness; gives comfort to the dropsical; takes away palpitation of the heart; gives circulation to the blood; restores bloom to the sallow or sickly cheek, and plumpness to the meagre habit; purges without pain, and banishes all cause of fever of every kind. It acts on the stomach, that great reservoir of the human system, a diseased state of which causes all diseases. No alteration in the usual habits of life is required, but the abstaining from distilled ardent spirits.

CERTIFICATE,
From Rev. Derick Lansing, D. D., Pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church in Utica.

UTICA, Jan. 6, 1830.

To Dr. Hitchcock.—Dear Sir: I have always been one of the number of those who have placed little confidence in nostrums or specifics, and for this reason, although I saw your advertisement of the Welch Medicamentum, I could not bring my mind to consent to use it. My sufferings, from indigestion, during the past summer, were so severe, as materially to affect my comfort, and my capacity for usefulness. I have reason to thank you, sir, that, on hearing of the state of my health, you kindly sent me your Medicamentum. I have taken it faithfully, and with entire success. I have not been visited with one of those turns of distress, which before were weekly periodical, since I began to take your valuable medicine. Could I receive the same relief which I have hitherto experienced, on condition of taking it for life, I should cheerfully comply with such condition. Your's, very truly, D. C. LANSING.

ANTI-DYSPEPTIC ELIXER.

ONE of the most agreeable and efficacious Medicines ever discovered for the permanent cure of those chronic states of derangement of the stomach, constituting that miserable disease called Dyspepsia.

The basis of this Elixer s vegetables, and perfectly innocent in its operation; it destroys that sour state of the stomach, the instant it is taken, and stops the morbid secretion, by giving strength to the muscular fibre of that important organ, by which means the peristaltic motion of the intestines is increased, and the costiveness obviated; a new action is given to the system, which puts an end to a train of distressing nervous sensations.

Another form of the disease in which the Elixer is admirably calculated to relieve, is the decline of fever, where the stomach will not bear the ordinary strengthening medicines indicated in such cases, it has the surprising effect of giving vigor, and restoring the natural secretions of the body, without increasing the febrile state. Not the least danger is to be apprehended from exposure to cold, while under the use of this medicine, nor will it interrupt necessary employment of the patient a single hour.

☞A number of cases of cures performed by the Anti-Dyspeptic Elixer in the vicinity of Pittsburgh can be given.

GEO. W. CARPENTER'S
COMPOUND SYRUP OF LIVERWORT,

A SAFE and Valuable Medicine for Coughs, Spitting of Blood, Consumption, and Liver Complaints.

Most of the medicines made use of for the above diseases are of a stimulating nature, composed generally of Resins and Balsams, in alcoholic solutions, which, although sometimes giving temporary relief, in almost every instance where they are freely used, aggravate the disease, and reduce the strength of the patient.

This article possesses superior advantages over these preparations, its action being of a tonic, invigorating and strengthening nature, thus overcoming the disease by promoting expectoration, and gradually increasing the strength of the patient, and thus, without being attended with any unpleasant effects: it also agrees with the stomach, in a cases, and is a pleasant medicine to take.
